Each teacher was again present at Sabbath school Sunday morning. There were 121 present with a three-dollar-and-seventy-cent collection. That's growing in the right direction. The song by Mrs. Dillon's class was enjoyed by all. Class honors went to Bro. Powell's class for the largest collection and to Miss Lou Petree's class for attendance.

All the services were well attended. The pastor preached a semi-Thanksgiving sermon in the morning. In the evening Rev. Barney Kunkel, a young man raised in this community, preached a most excellent sermon from Matt. 4:19.

The League service deserves special mention from the fact that it was so well attended and again from the fact that the leader, Mr. Gerald King, had the subject well prepared. The topic next Sunday night is, "The Star of Bethlehem." A world-wide wonder. Matt. 2:2.

Miss Grace Wilson and Miss Mills, of Highland College, Kansas, delightfully entertained a good audience at the church Saturday night. These ladies are each artists in their profession and each number was heartily applauded by the appreciative audience.

At a meeting of the Sabbath school board Tuesday night, arrangements were made for the Christmas entertainment. Misses Alice Spoerle, Lou Petree and Mrs. Minnie Moore were appointed a committee on selection and preparation of program. Mrs. L. I. Moore, Miss Eva Hunt, together with the classes of Bro. Powell, Mrs. Ware and Miss Hunt are to provide the tree and look after the decorations. H. E. Kreek, J. A. Kreek and Prof. Brooks will attend to the presents for the school.

A good supply of literature for the school has been ordered for the ensuing quarter.

Rev. Powell and wife will attend district conference in Ridgeway, Mo., this week.

In comparing farm with city life, it is well to state that where one can be successful and obtain enjoyment, that is where he ought to live. Some enjoy the farm and others the city. Many people have never known the joys of a farm life, and many farmers are just in the same condition. City and country have their respective advantages, wages are possibly better in the city, but there are a great many opportunities for spending them. There are better educational advantages in the city, which are obtained at the cost of good health.

Daily Christmas Hint

Decorations For the Christmas Table Should Be Appropriate

DECORATED DESSERT CUP.

Now that the calendar suggests the coming holiday season and its luncheons and dinners the question of favors and decorations for Christmas arises in the minds of practical women.

For the high stemmed glasses in which fruit cups or any desserts are served the little sprig of pine, with a cone and perhaps a festoon of red and green ribbons, will do much to decorate a table and, if artificial, can be worn in the lapel of a coat for many days.

The mistletoe or the holly on the Christmas place card need not be real. It can be bought at a millinery store in a large bunch. After cutting two horizontal slits in a card insert the sprig that suggests the Christmas season and write the name of the guest on the card.

Mrs. Lizzie Roecker and her son "Fritz," visited in Fairfax over Sunday, the guest of her daughter, Mrs. E. M. Austin, and family.

Miss Ida Gelvin, of Tarkio, was the guest of her grandmother, Mrs. Sarah Ramsay, and other relatives in this city, for a few days, last week.

Wednesday of last week the members of the Woodville Sunday School and church gave a Thanksgiving supper, and oh, the many good things to eat was a caution. It's mighty hard to even get "in sight" of the ladies of Woodville when it comes to preparing and serving things to tickle and please the palate. They took in over $40, and had a big crowd that thoroughly enjoyed everything. "Let us forget," we will make the statement right now that these good women and, no doubt, some of the men, of Woodville, did not forget us on this occasion—oh, no, they remembered us royally—a fine big chicken, "roasted to a turn," and besides this a whole, big chocolate cake. Well, Pamplin, Gem Theatre, Dec. 16; all we can say—Have another one soon and remember us.

The next attraction is our Village Postmaster. A beautiful play in three acts by E. Herbert. Mr. Chas. E. Mills will be seen as the postmaster and is well known all over the country as that peculiar comedian. Mr. Mills is now playing his second season in this one part and without a doubt you will see one of the best rural comedy dramas of the season. The same cast as last season with new specialties added makes the great success that it is. Beautiful special scenery and settings are carried by this company. Specialties between the acts by Mills, Boone and

New Point Presbyterian Church Notes.

Thanksgiving day, as for a number of years past, was observed by this church, this year, by songs of praise and sermon appropriate to the occasion; a bountiful free dinner in the church and a good social time.

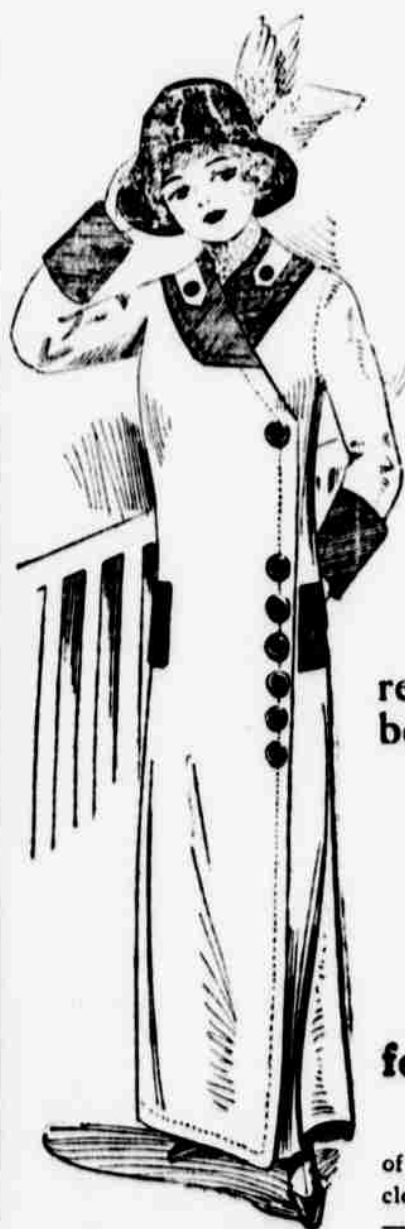

In connection with the morning service, last Sabbath, two children, the young sons of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Dreher, received the ordinance of baptism.
